

First Ladies of the United States Presidencies

- Introduction
- Task
- Process
- Evaluation
- Conclusion
- Credits

- Teacher Page

Evaluation

Below is a guideline for how your work will be evaluated:

	Outstanding 4	Developing 3	Beginning 1	Score
Visual Presentation	The visual source presented is well organized, free of most grammatical errors, and complements the subject presented.	The visual is organized, but has some errors.	The visual is organized, but has noticeable errors. There is no clear concentration on topic.
Clarity of Understanding and Analysis	There is a clear understanding of the chosen individual that is supported by factual research. Also the analysis of media involvement and public opinion is	There is a developed analysis but clarification needs some further developing. Analysis lacking some research	There is no clarification and connection in the analysis to any factual research.

		supported by factual information.	information.
	Group Involvement	There is a clear collaboration within the group. Each group member is comfortable presenting a part and/or contribution to the project	There is most group involvement with a visible emphasis on some individuals more than others.	There appears to be no group involvement or communication. One person presenting and discussing most of the material.
	Oral Presentation	The Group is well prepared and is knowledgeable of the subject and information presented.	The Group is well prepared with some minor errors, such as reading from notes, speech filters.	Group is unprepared and having a hard time relaying information to the audience.
	Persuasion of Topic	The Group presents clear reasoning of why their individual deserves nomination. All persuasion material is based on research.	The Group presents opinion clearly, but is lacking some factual research information.	The Group has no factual information and research on which to base opinion.
	Scores and Comments				